A WINNER FROM PORTERVILLE

MOVING GEM, owned by Mr. and Mrs. E. B. "Swede" Nelson, of Porterville, with Ismael Valenzuela up, is shown winning the six furlong Project Hope race at Santa Anita on February 4 in the time of 1:10:4. Moving Gem, out of Moving On by Ali's Gem, is a three-year-old that was raised by the Nelsons after they bought Moving On from M. A. Carpenter, a former Porterville area resident. She has finished "in the money" on several occasions, and won at the Del Mar Turf club on August 22, 1963. Naturally, the Nelson's have great hopes for her in the future, also for a two-year-old filly that goes into training this week at Santa Anita, and a yearling filly. Photo at right shows Moving Gem and Valenzuela in the winner's circle at Santa Anita, with K. L. Stucki, trainer, standing between Mr. and Mrs. Nelson.

BRITTANY DOG TRIALS HERE

PORTERVILLE, Feb. 13—California Brittany Club Field trials will be run in Success Lake game reserve Saturday and Sunday, February 22-23, with handlers and owners expected to bring dogs from the entire west coast area.

ANOTHER UNSUNG, but efficiently-operating agri-industry in the Porterville community - actually almost in the city limits on West Putnam - is the Kimber Farms Breeding hatchery where an average of some 11,000 eggs are produced daily for shipment throughout the world. Only the highest-quality eggs go onto the breeding market for production of White Leghorn layers, the balance moving into commercial egg channels. Formerly the T. Niethammer poultry farm, the Kimber operation has a capacity of 20,000 birds, with about 15,000 on the farm now. There are ordinarily five men on the full-time payroll with others hired - often students - on a part time basis as needed. Niethammer came to Porterville about 43 years ago and back in the "old days" farmed much of the acreage that is now in subdivisions in the area of the West Putnam school. In 1951 he leased his poultry plant to Kimber Farms, one of the nation's leading producers of high quality poultry strains. In above photos, from left, top: scenes in the egg room where the daily output of eggs is graded so that only perfect eggs are selected for hatching; at left is Joe Duer, at right top is Maurice Johns. At lower left are hatching eggs waiting shipment in the cold storage room; center is Ferdinand Krause, superintendent of the Kimber operation who had worked with Niethammer for a number of years; at bottom right is a view inside one of the poultry barns, showing some of the finest White Leghorns in the nation.

BIG DAY ON THE EMIGRANT TRAIL

Today is a big day along the Emigrant Trail — namely Porterville's Main street, for at 11:15 a.m. officials of the Crocker-Citizens' bank are breaking ground for their new bank building in the 500 block — right about where Billingsley's stable used to be, and, where more lately the Monache theater was located.

In a few months there will be a brand new building there, and people will point with pride, and it is more than likely that the bank will sort of rejuvenate that particular area of the city.

Porterville was a one-bank town for a good many years, then it became a two-bank community, then a three-bank city, with, in addition to banks, a number of other institutions of a financial nature.

Since these banks and financial institutions operate on a profit basis, their growth in the community indicate that things are moving along, that the economy is expanding, that the phenomenon we call progress is being made in Porterville.

Crocker-Citizen is part of this expanding economy; the bank is part of our total business community; it will soon become a substantial investor in the community.

So things continue to change along the old Emigrant Trail. To Crocker-Citizen, as the latest to pitch a permanent camp, may we say — "Welcome to Porterville."

Sacramento Senate Scene

By Howard Way

State Senator, Tulare County

Here in Sacramento these days the record 3.66 billion dollar 1964-65 budget is the number one topic of conversation. I would like to discuss it briefly with you.

All of us must realize that we are faced with many demanding and challenging problems here in California. Problems caused largely by our unprecedented population explosion. Our annual budgets of necessity must grow larger, but this does not mean that we must cast aside frugality and fiscal responsibility.

It is always difficult, as a member of the minority party, to be constructive in appraising a majority party position and actions without seeming to be partisanly critical, but the money contained in the 1964-65 budget now under study here in Sacramento is money that has come from the pockets of all of us, Democrats and Republicans alike, and certainly the prudent spending of this money is the concern of all of us. So I want to point up in the remainder of this letter what seems to me to be some inaccurate and misleading figures.

The Governor stated in his budget message: "The 1964-65 budget is soundly balanced and, like the last four, requires no new taxes."

You should know that it is balanced only because of 156.2 million dollars in one-time windfall revenues. These revenues occurred because of action by the 1963 legislature which eliminated installment privileges for payment of bank and corporation taxes, and also on personal income taxes. Additional funds came from a new insurance company tax and a sales tax on some food products sold at drive-in restaurants, plus a tax on meals served by volunteer organizations.

The 1963 legislature approved the one cent gasoline tax which you all pay each time you fill the tank. This money of course goes into the highway fund but the fact remains that it is a new tax.

Obviously, then, the budget is balanced because of the one-time windfall revenues and an increased tax burden on the California citizen.

The Governor states in his message, "California ranks 27th among the fifty states in state tax burden per $100 of personal income." Factually, if you look at the total tax bill and forget the artificial separation of state and local government (both are financed by money out of your pocket) this is what we find:

California has the HIGHEST tax burden, on a per capita basis, of any of the ten leading industrial states! Our taxes amount to $149.44 per person. Put this awesome burden on the basis of taxes paid per $100 of personal income and it amounts to $15.20, topped among the ten leading industrial states only by Michigan.

Thus you can see that California is not a state with relatively low tax costs, but in reality is one with a very high cost of government.

At this time, then, as we analyze this 1964-65 budget, the following points should be emphasized:

1. We are spending more than we are taking in. This is dangerously irresponsible and can only lead to an increased tax burden in 1965.

2. The small 8.8 million dollar surplus for next year is misleading. It was obtained from one-time windfall revenues which cannot be repeated.

3. You, the voters, approved some 720 million dollars in new bonds in 1963. You will be asked this year to approve an additional 760 million dollars in new borrowings.

4. Almost all capital outlay is being financed by bond funds.

5. This means that the bond service costs (almost entirely interest on money borrowed) can exceed 200 million dollars by fiscal 1973-74.

In summary, I hope that this brief discussion of the 1964-65 budget has not been so packed with figures that it has become dull and uninteresting. The fiscal path which we are to follow in the next ten years here in California as we grapple with the tremendous problems of growth and expansion, should be of real concern to each of you.

Space prohibits further discussion of the budget at this time. We will be studying it here in Sacramento very thoroughly for the next three weeks. Some curtailment and economies must be made. . . . If they are not, all of us will be paying much higher taxes in 1965.

Now in the talking stages — power boat racing meet on Lake Success later in the year.

Another event in the crowded spring season—The King Brothers circus, in Porterville April 15, sponsored by Post 20, The American Legion.

New clubhouse at the Porterville Municipal golf course will probably become a reality this year. One decision not yet firmly made — location.

Still only a straw in the wind, but there is a lot of conversation being developed in some quarters concerning a major building development on the Porterville Municipal airport — a motel with all the trimmings. Yet to be worked out, in so far as the city officially knows — financing.

Prediction by those who are on the ground floor — more property sales this spring and summer between Lake Success and the Great Western divide than in any past year. The area gives every indication of having started to jump.

NEW BOOKS LISTED FOR CITY LIBRARY

Nancy Newhall has given us, in THE ELOQUENT LIGHT, an unforgettable picture of the outstanding nature photographer of our time, Ansel Adams. This is the first volume of a two-volume life of Adams, and illustrated throughout with his marvelous photography. The important subject of conservation has rarely been treated with the skill, nor illustrated with the beauty of this new book. The creative, constructive and influential life led by Adams makes us agree with Alfred Steiglitz, who said: "it is good for me to know that there is Ansel Adams loose somewhere in this world of ours."

This life of Adams is the latest in a series of beautiful books the Sierra Club has been publishing, all dealing in one way or another with conservation. The Library has the following volumes of this series: THIS IS THE AMERICAN EARTH, prepared by Nancy Newhall and Ansel Adams, shows the wilderness as only Ansel Adams could. THE PLACE NO ONE KNEW by Eliot Porter is a magnificent account of Glen Canyon on the Colorado, a canyon about to disappear under a lake. The pictures here are all in color. WORDS OF THE EARTH is by Cedric Wright, photographer, and Nancy Newhall, editor. IN WILDNESS IS THE PRESERVATION OF THE WORLD, with text from Thoreau, is again filled with the unbelievable color photographs of Eliot Porter. THESE WE INHERIT have Ansel Adams photographs, and tells us of the parklands of America. ISLAND IN TIME by Harold Gilliam shows us the beauty and problems of the Point Reyes Peninsula. All seven of these books are outstanding examples of the bookmakers art, in binding, paper, type used, and above all in their photography.

While talking of unusual photography, the LIFE OF TUTANKHAMEN, by Christiane Desroches-Noblecourt has seventy-five plates that are remarkable for color and texture. This is a scholarly and fascinating account of a period in Egypt's history, and has many black and white illustrations in addition to the color plates.

The International Exhibition of Modern Art, (1913), was one of the most sensational events in American cultural history. In THE STORY OF THE ARMORY SHOW by Milton Brown we have a richly detailed account of that epic affair of fifty years ago.

From Daybell Nursery By John

The beautiful weather the past weekend started everyone working on the weeds and the posies. Of course, there could never be a nicer season for such goings on and we urge you to get out and enjoy it. Whether you're planting or just driving around looking at all the luscious, taxable, country side, you should take time and do it.

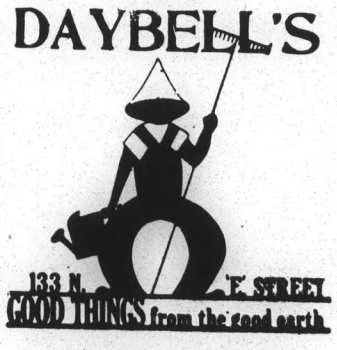

If your own weed patch looks like it needs feeding, we have many fine fertilizers. Some, like Ortho 16-16-8, are good for lawns, trees, shrubs, and vegetables, while others are good for special purposes. We would be glad to help you find the right one for your yard.

With the long time between rains that happens in our valley, it is necessary to water deeply once in awhile. This is true anytime from September on, but especially true now that plants are starting to grow. Even when it does rain it often only wets a few inches of the top soil so give everything a good soaking soon.

Other signs of spring include the arrival of tomato plants, fresh vegetable seeds, primrose in bloom, tuberous begonia bulbs, flowers on camellias, and tired nurserymen. Come see for yourself on "E" Street, Porterville.

CHARLES CUMMINGS, county supervisor from the first district, who has announced that he will seek reelection this year to the board.

CHARLES CUMMINGS POINTS TO WORK AS "FULL TIME" SUPERVISOR IN ASKING FOR REELECTION THIS YEAR

Charles Cummings, of Porterville, in announcing his candidacy for reelection as Tulare county supervisor from the first district, emphasizes the importance of representation by "a full-time supervisor", pointing out that with a $31½ million budget, the county spends some $85,000 every day.

"Handling this expenditure and administering the affairs of Tulare county is a full-time job," Cummings states. "I have always worked full time in this job and I will continue to work full time if reelected."

In stating his general policies concerning county government, Cummings says that everyone depends on agriculture in the county; he says that the economic position of farmers and ranchers must be protected and that property tax rate "can and should be reduced."

He states that he believes in good, efficient, economical local government — that the state and federal governments should run their own business and counties should be let alone to handle their affairs. He believes local government should be kept at the local level.

New roads and new public buildings should be constructed only when a need is proved, he says. More use should be made of tax-supported district hospitals rather than to build a new, expensive county hospital, he believes, and the mentally ill should be cared for by the state, not the county.

"I don't believe county taxpayers should be called upon to support the Short-Doyle mental health program," he states.

Concerning the controversial new courthouse that is planned for downtown Visalia, Cummings says that there should be one court house center in each incorporated area of the county — that two court house centers should not be located in one town.

He voted against construction of a county court building in downtown Visalia, believing that such a building, if needed, should be located at the County Center near the present county building in Visalia.

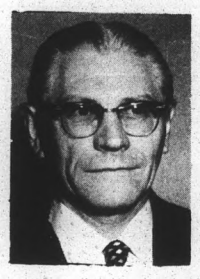

Cummings doubts, however, that a new courthouse is needed right now, since there is one vacant court facility in the existing county building.

In connection with the California Supervisors' association, Cummings serves on the highways, taxation, welfare, urban problems, and agriculture and water resources committees. Within the county he represents the board of supervisors on the county water commission, the museum board, the probation department, and the local agencies formation commission.

Cummings is a former mayor and city manager of the city of Porterville; he is a past president of the San Joaquin unit of the League of California Cities and is a past director of the League of California Cities.

He was appointed to the board of supervisors about five years ago to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Rodgers L. Moore, of Porterville. He successfully ran for election to a a full four-year term and is now seeking his second term of office.

CHAPEL CHIMES

By Rev. N. J. Thompson

One of the world's bravest men was novelist Robert Louis Stevenson, who arrived in California in 1879. Some of his California experiences are recorded in "The Silverado Squatters", and "Across the Plains". Among his best known books are "The Strange Case of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde", "Treasure Island", and "Kidnapped".

Stevenson's literary output was amazing, because he struggled for years against tuberculosis. Yet he faced life cheerfully, heroically, working hard and turning a smiling face to the world, though he was dying, and knew it.

Trained as a lawyer, he forced his way into the front rank of contemporary writers by the excellence of his style. At his death, Robert Louis Stevenson held a preeminent place in English letters, and had endeared himself to all classes of readers. He was buried on the crest of a mountain behind his home on Samoa.

His epitaph, carved on a stone on that South Sea island hill, was written by himself:

"Under the wide and starry sky,
Dig the grave and let me lie.
Glad did I live and gladly die,
And I laid me down with a will."

Here Stevenson tells the secret of his successful life. He lived GLADLY. Each morning he thankde God he was alive and had strength for his daily work. He was glad to write his books, to bring joy and inspiration to untold millions of readers around the world.

This is a prayer Stevenson wrote: "The day returns and brings us a petty round of irritating duties. Help us play the man, help us perform our tasks with laughter and kind faces all this day; and bring us to our resting beds, weary and content and undishonored. Amen."

County To Retain Control Of Lake Recreation Areas

VISALIA, Feb. 13 — The county of Tulare will continue to operate the recreation areas of Lake Success and Lake Kaweah, and Army Engineers have indicated that $1,000,000 will be spent on recreation facilities at the lakes within the next few years.

Several months ago county supervisors indicated they intended to give up control of the lake areas — a move that met with considerable opposition from chambers of commerce within the county.

It is estimated by Merle Harp, county parks superintendent, that county operation costs will run $100,000 annually, beyond the $25,000 to $30,000 defrayed by income from concessions and fees.

Human error was the cause of more than 85 per cent of all fatal traffic accidents in the United States last year.

FARMERS MAY SIGN IN FEED GRAIN PROGRAM THROUGH MARCH 27 AND BECOME ELIGIBLE FOR PRICE SUPPORT

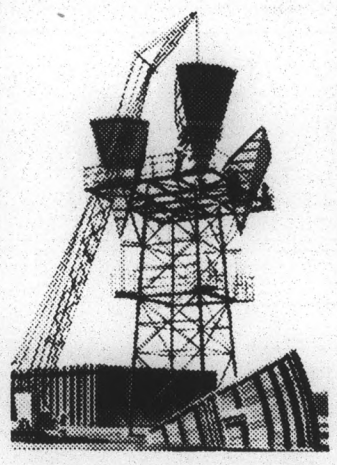

VISALIA, Feb. 13 — Farmers have an opportunity to sign up in the 1964 feed grain program now, according to M. L. Rogers, Chairman, Tulare County ASC committee; the sign-up period continues through March 27.

As in previous years, the feed program will be voluntary and each individual producer on farms growing one of the three feed grains covered by the program will make his own decision about whether to take part. The program is available for corn, grain sorghum and barley.

To take part in the feed grain program, a farmer must agree to take out of production and devote to an approved conservation use at least 20 percent of the total feed grain base (for all of the three grains grown on the farm). The farmer may divert the acreage of one or more of the feed grains, but his payment will be figured according to the rate applicable to the crop diverted.

Farmers who participate in the program will be eligible for diversion and price support payments, and for price support loans on their 1964 production of the three grains. The price support payments will be made to participants whether the feed grain produced in 1964 is fed on the farm, sold, or placed under a price support loan.

Traffic accidents took the lives of 2,780 jaywalkers in the United States during 1962.

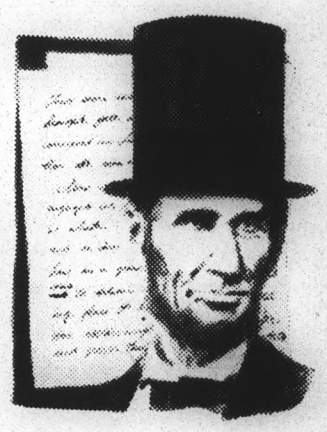

What's doing?

During 1964, Pacific Telephone's construction program in California will be the biggest in the company's history, amounting to $419 million. This money will help to create thousands of jobs, not only in the telephone industry but in construction and manufacturing, and among the thousands of suppliers we do business with in hundreds of communities throughout the state. Our $419 million program is a big factor in the state's economy—and another way we're making sure that telephone service is keeping up with California's growth.

Interesting fact: During a three-minute long distance call, you can say all the words in an average two page letter. For example, if you talk slowly, you'll say about 450 words. When you talk a "blue streak," the number of words zooms to about 750. In comparison, Lincoln used 267 words in his Gettysburg Address. If spoken over the phone, it'd be well within a three-minute period. So, fast or slow, you can say a lot for very little when you call long distance.

Here's something you might want to keep in mind. When you need help in an emergency, our Operator is as near as your telephone and ready to help—anytime.

Nowadays, coin telephones come in several styles in Porterville such as our new walk-up type shown at left with our local telephone man, Carlo Prandini. In addition, some California cities and towns have drive-up phones you can use to make a call without getting out of your car. These, plus the familiar indoor and outdoor coin phones make up the more than 104,000 now in use throughout the state. This helps make sure that you'll always have a telephone handy, whenever you're away from home.

Time Out

By Davis Harp

LIFT THAT BRUSH, PAINT THAT WALL WHEN YOU FINISH, DO THE HALL

The faint slap-slap of our paint brush was an unpleasant sound. It has the quiet sticky sound of a man eating two peanut butter sandwiches at once. The Sunday afternoon sun was warm on our back and the threat of sleep was a constant drag on our paint brush. The paint is thick and sticky and is hard to get off of your shoes. It gets under your finger nails and it's hard to explain to your friends that dry-rot has not set in. The wall of the house stretches endlessly before you and disappears over the southern horizon. The only bright spot in the afternoon is the prospect that you may run out of paint and it is Sunday and the stores are closed.

We can hear the wife singing gayly in the kitchen, "Lift that b-r-ush, paint that w-a-ll, when ya finish that, you can do the h-a-ll."

Sunday was a day for doing great deeds. It was one of those days that comes along but once in each winter. Bright, clear, warm and shining. It is the kind of day that a man should use to invent new miracle drugs. Or perhaps shoot a 1200 pound bear. Or run the 100 yard dash in nine seconds. It was the kind of day where you could have sat down across the table from Nikita and said, "Look here, Ace, we are going to do things this way."

These were the things we would have done, but the wife decided that it was the kind of day on which a man might paint a wall. The drugs can wait. So can the bear and the 100 yard dash and Nikita. But not the wife.

The afternoon wore on. The paint supply refused to diminish. We had started the painting with a gallon of paint and now it seemed that we had a pint more than we started with. The wall had grown only slightly shorter.

Birds sang in the starkly naked trees. Birds do not have to paint houses (there is a small matter of boys with BB guns, though.)

Late in the afternoon we suddenly heard the blare of a wedding chase out on the freeway, which is only two blocks away. We dashed toward our back fence, waving our paint brush and shouting, "Go back, you fool, while there's still time."

But he didn't listen. The horns grew dim and then disappeared into the north. They never listen, and walls keep getting painted.

We attacked the wall again. The wife still sang in the kitchen, "Paint that w-a-ll, don't stop to think, when you finish that you can fix the s-i-nk."

The light was growing dim and we hurried. Lassie would be coming on shortly. The slap-slap of our paint brush was shattered, the calm of the fading day. It was hard to tell where the ground ended and the wall began.

As we were about to disappear over the southern horizon the wife came out to pass judgement on our day's work. She looked at the wall for a long moment and then said thoughtfully, "I wonder how the whole house would look painted this color?"

One Year Left For Korean Vets To Claim Benefit

VISALIA, Feb. 13 — Veterans of the Korean Conflict have only one more year left during which they can take advantage of the educational program offered under the Korean GI bill, according to Tulare County Veterans Service Officer F. M. Gifford.

"The deadline for the Korean Conflict veterans under this program is January 31, 1965," says Gifford, "which means these veterans must plan on only one more year of federal help to complete an educational program or a part of an educational program."

Gifford pointed out, however, that eligible war orphans have no deadline, except their own age. They may begin anytime between the ages of 18 and 23.

"Also," said Gifford, "if a disabled veteran of the Korean Conflict would like to be considered under the vocational rehabilitation program, he should plan on making application, and can do so through this office."

The Tulare County Service office is at room 21-E, court house in Visalia.

SURE SIGN of spring - hot caps are starting to appear through the vegetable producing districts. But there are some folks who would like a little more winter in the form of rain, and snow in the mountains.

We Only Heard

BY BILL RODGERS

WELL, WELL, Assemblyman Myron Frew has admitted that maybe he was "sold a bill of goods, along with the legislature," when he voted for AB 59, the welfare legislation that became effective February 1 allowing unemployed fathers to move into the Aid To Needy Children program—at great expense to Tulare county and other counties of California. Myron says the bill "is too far reaching," which is the understatement of the year. But Myron, after being eminently unsuccessful in representing the interests of Tulare and Kings counties at Sacramento, is asking the people to vote for him again, a rather illogical request on the basis of Myron's dismal record, but dismal records haven't stopped him in the past . . . In fact, Myron says he wants just one more two-year term, then he might be willing to turn the job over to Ben Cole, of Porterville. Ben had ideas a while back about running against Myron on the Democrat ticket this year, but apparently changed his mind. Now Myron is speaking kind words for Ben, which, in our cynical, newspaper reporter's opinion indicates that maybe, just maybe, there might be some kind of a deal in the woodpile.

HEARING BEFORE the Porterville city council next Tuesday evening regarding a proposed wholesale change in the community property numbering system involves much more than just city area. The new system, as recommended by the Porterville Planning commission, would embrace the Porterville Metropolitan area, bordered on the south by Tea Pot Dome road, on the west by Westwood, on the east by Holcomb jogging over to Doyle, and on the north by approximately Baker jogging over to Linda Vista . . . At these boundaries the county-wide numbering system stops (as it stops at the metropolitan areas of other incorporated cities of the county) and within the metropolitan area a new city system would be set up. Without getting into details, the proposed system would probably change at least 75 per cent of all existing numbers, but would not basically change street names. The problem is that the old numbering system within the city of Porterville gets pretty well jumbled as it moves out into newly-developed areas, and a system is virtually non-existant in the "gray area" between the city line and the metropolitan area line . . . The new, proposed numbering system would bring about a more orderly system that would make it possible to assign a sequence number to any piece of property within the metropolitan area. At least that's the way the city planning commission sees it . . . Personally, we are uninterested in the emotional arguments about firemen not finding a fire, people dying before the doctor arrives, the inference that it is next to impossible to find any place under the present numbering system. In fact this sort of conversation upsets us no end . . . The decision the Porterville city council must make is whether or not a mass number change is economically worth the confusion and cost; whether or not the planning commission's plan is the best plan; whether or not there is a compromise; or whether or not to sit tight and do nothing. . . . We can't quite go along with the latter idea; we would like to hear "the voice of the people" come next Tuesday night . . . And if you reside within the metropolitan area of Porterville, as defined above, you are concerned with the numbering system . . . Don't say we didn't warn you.

Water water everywhere

Today you could actually drink a glass of pure, fresh water produced from the salty Pacific Ocean — at the experimental sea water distillation plant operated by Southern California Edison in connection with its steam-electric generating station near Oxnard. This is just one of the research projects vigorously conducted by Edison and other investor-owned electric companies. But the mainstream of research is devoted to the exploration of new techniques, methods and ideas for the generation, transmission and distribution of electricity. This research is part of the never-ending development of more and more low-cost electric power — and of new ways to use electricity to make your family's life safer, more pleasant, and more rewarding in the bright new all-electric future. For late news on the greatest "treasure hunt" of modern times, please read right.

Answers to key questions about the investor-owned electric utility industry and the all-electric future

How will the research by the electric industry affect me and my family?

This research is resulting in dozens of "little miracles" that will make your life safer, healthier, more rewarding and more interesting. Low-cost electricity will be there at the touch of your finger (and you won't even have to flip a switch). And new wonders in the all-electric future will help you heat, light, clean, and decorate your home. You'll eat delicious meals, prepared almost as quickly as you can make the selection. You'll scour your pots, keep an eye on the children and even mow your lawn with the help of new electronic wonders. Clean, flameless, low-cost electricity will do most everything but handle your thinking in the all-electric future.

And electricity is one of today's biggest bargains. The chart below shows the national cost picture for residential electricity over the past fifty years.

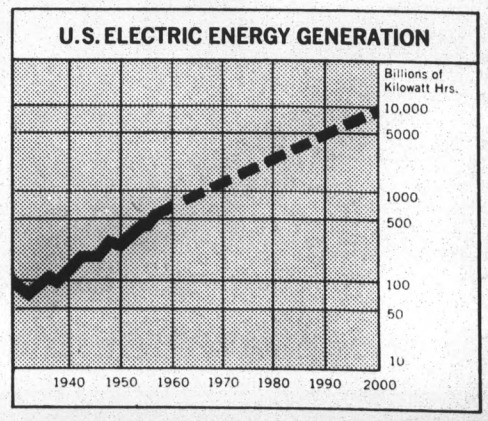

What else is new?

Almost everything is new in the electric utility business. New principles of power production are being pushed ahead. One travels ionized gas through a magnetic field — and produces electricity without the need for conventional turbine generators. Another transforms chemical energy directly into electric power; other methods convert heat directly into electric energy.

Electricity is efficient and low in cost today. And scores of new developments are on the horizon in the all-electric future!

Will there be enough power for my all-electric future?

Here's the picture of power production up to the year 2,000. With the aid of research and the world's finest engineers and scientists, Edison and America's other investor-owned electric companies stand ready and able to meet in full the future power needs of all Americans.

GUTHRIE

Work with the National cattlemen's association is not new to Guthrie, since he has been active in the organization since 1947. He headed the association's marketing committee for five years and also has served as a member of the finance and public relations committees.

Guthrie, who was born in the old Mt. Whitney hospital in Porterville in 1913 while his family lived on the original Guthrie homestead in the White River country, has four generations of cattle family back of him on his mother's side; three generations on his father's side.

His grandfather, John Guthrie, worked in the White River gold mines for 16 years prior to the turn of the century, gradually acquiring a cattle spread in the hills around White river. His father, Less Guthrie, started out to study medicine, but turned to cattle raising in 1904, going into partnership with his father; he later was elected to the state assembly from this district.

Mrs. Guthrie—John's mother—now also resides in Porterville; several years ago John and his wife, Marion, and their son and daughter, moved off the mountain ranch to make their home in Porterville.

Guthrie has served as president of the California Cattlemen's association and the Tulare County Cattlemen's association. In 1956 a state-wide committee, working through the San Francisco chamber of commerce, named him California Cattleman of the Year; at present he heads the California Cattle Feeders association.

He still owns virtually all of the original Guthrie property in the White River, and higher mountain country — about 12,000 acres — managing it as a cow and calf operation; he also has a cattle feeding lot northwest of Porterville where he handles about 20,000 head a year; in addition he farms some 2,400 acres in the Porterville and Visalia areas.

Jackass Mail

merce office, and if agreement can be reached, the Jackass Mail will make its third annual run to Springville on Saturday, April 4.

Representatives of the Porterville and Springville chambers of commerce have accused Col. Robert Natzke of dilly dallying and shilly shallying in regard to military organization of the Jackass Mail, but the colonel has responded by saying nothing as yet, except that the mail will go through.

It is understood that the colonel has been in contact with Richmond headquarters concerning new uniforms for his Confederate troops — always the dandies, them Confederates — and unless the shipment is delayed by Yankee bushwhackers, the famous cannon crew, under command of the equally famous Col. Natzke, will be glistening in grandeur when the Jackass Mail rolls out.

DR. WILBUR STOVER TO GIVE LECTURE

PORTERVILLE, Feb. 13 — Dr. Wilbur B. Stover, optometrist, will lecture on "Optometric Detection of Glaucoma and Tonometry" at the 65th Annual Congress of the California Optometric association to be held in the El Cortez hotel in San Diego, February 18-22.

California winter potato crop is forecast at nine per cent below last year.

FIRST STEP toward preparing for the annual American Red Cross drive in the community were taken Friday when representatives of the Y-Teen club of Porterville high school prepared membership kits at the Red Cross office on Oak street, under direction of Mrs. Pearl Curtis, local Red Cross executive secretary. The drive will be conducted next month. In above photo, from left, are: Karen Kelsey, Jackie Caldwell, Dixie Rabbon, Marian Clement, Dorothy Kelsey and Betty Caldwell.

VISALIA—County Superintendent of Schools J. Post Williams, and Roy Petty have been named Tulare county co-chairmen for the 1964 United Cerebral Palsy telethon that is slated for a Fresno station March 7 - 8.

NUEVAS DE LAS IGLESIA EN ESPANOL

"A TRAVES DE LA SEMANA"
Por
Luis Guerra Cardenas . . .

Hace 3,500 anos Moises se encontraba en una situacion muy tensa por lo que tuvo necesidad de orar a Dios por muchas cosas, entrando este al Tabernaculo; (Lea Numeros 7:89) Y cuando entraba Moises en el Tabernaculo de reunion, para hablar con Dios, oia la voz que le hablaba de encima del propiciatorio que estaba sobre el arca del testimonio, de entre los dos querubines; y hablaba con el.

Moises sabia el valor de la voz que le hablaba, es pues este momento en que Dios tambien te habla, porque su presencia esta en este lugar, y en todo lugar, su palabra es la verdad, aqui mismo, en esta ciudad de Porterville hay una Vajilla de oro y alimentacio para todos los que en verdad estimen sus vidas.

En todo este Distrito, hay muchos lugares, donde se predican Sermones en Espanol, y todas las Iglesias les dan la bienvenida a todos los que de verdad quieran escuchar la palabra de Dios.

Aunque sea vergonsozo pero el hombre aunque este completamente perdido nunca admite que vive en un grave herror, porque este siempre quiere ser sabio, y sabio solamente es Dios" porque este es el mismo ayer ahora y para siempre," este es el pequeno comienzo de una serie de articulos, Evangelicos, que escribire en este Periodico, con la Ayuda de Dios Primeramente; asi es que todas Las Iglesias siempre oren porque este pequeno trabajo sea una ayuda a la tension y malos momentos por los que en la actualidad pasamos. . . . Dios los Bendiga, son mis deseos.
